Long Eaton Chamber of Trade – May 2015 Newsletter

Member's profile:

Fugue Music, 9 Tamworth Road, Long Eaton

Since opening its doors to customers in August 2014, Fugue Music has been busy expanding its range of stock, services and brands to meet the demands of local musicians, teachers and students.

It is pleased to be dealing with musical household names such as Casio, Korg, Carlsbro, Eko, Faith and Crafter as well as lesser known, but sought after, brands such as James Nelligan, Crush, Kurzweil, Istanbul and Dixon as well as many more.

News of Fugue Music even reached Australia and culminated in a visit from Cole Clark Guitars CEO Miles Jackson and brand ambassador Lloyd Spiegel. Cole Clark is new to the UK but is internationally recognised as one of the finest quality guitar brands in the world. The April 10th visit showcased a range of Cole Clark guitars for customers to try, learn about and even purchase. Lloyd also wowed staff and customers with his exceptional talent for performing in store.

Fugue Music not only retails instruments but also all types of accessories & sheet music. The shop is also equipped with a workshop in which repairs, set-ups & servicing are carried out.

Also on site is a purpose built tuition room and both Adam & Leon teach from the shop throughout the week.

From time to time, and as part of their desire to bring more music into Long Eaton, Fugue Music hosts in-store showcases at which local musicians play as the customers are free to browse. The next of these is on Saturday 6th June with performances from Frazer Lowrie, Adam Peter Smith & Josh Wheatley.

Fugue Music is delighted to be assisting the Chamber with its Town Centre Competition this year and looks forwards to seeing you soon.
